Biography

I have mediated in extensive consumer and trader and small claims disputes, with very good results. I continue to provide regular mediation work for some large names in the motor trade.

I am based in Yorkshire but will conduct UK wide low cost telephone mediations. I will also consider pro bono mediations for suitable cases.

I qualified as Solicitor in 1995 and worked as a Litigation Solicitor for over 20 years, for the main part at partner/director level doing general civil and some commercial litigation.

I ran my own legal practice for over 10 years and so I have knowledge of all manner of legal disputes including contract, neighbour and family disputes, consumer, debt, partnership/business, workplace, matrimonial, wills and probate, personal injury and clinical negligence.

I have a particular interest in disputes involving elderly care and disputes involving the elderly who have lost capacity or who have dementia.

Style of mediation

For most disputes my style is very down to earth and straight talking. I take a pragmatic and cost conscious approach whilst trying to find the best deal for both parties. In other disputes requiring more sensitivity, I have a very empathetic style whilst trying to bring focus and clarity and ultimately a way forward.
